

Fragment

by Valerie Stoyva

Wings still wet
with colors and paint,

face luminous
like a saint's—

you,
who hatched on a branch